MODEL AWBC-1

THE ALL WEATHER BREATHER CAP

Want protection from the elements for your Betts manhole cover on your tank? Look no further than the Fjord Aviation Products AWBC-1. It protects against driving rain and particle fuel contamination that can be associated with premature filter/coalescer shut down and high PSID.

Additionally the 100 mesh stainless steel strainer, located between the top cap (orange in color) and the bottom part (black in color), provides a flame arresting feature.

The durability of the AWBC-1 is superior to the original black rubber cap due to being made of high impact absorbing urethane which is chemical resistant, flame retardant and temperature resistant from -20° to 200° F. It also meets and exceeds NFPA-385 and SAE requirements for vacuum breaker valve protection plus flame propagation control.

One solution to the water and dirt problem in your tanks - AWBC-1. Prevent water and dirt intrusion into aviation fuel tanks with the AWBC-1 to help maintain clean dry fuel to the aircraft.
